THE SHEIK TO BE GIVEN

Final Act to Have Rich Costumes and Unusual Lighting.

"The Sheik," the act which closes the Christian College annual vaudeville tonight, is to be one of the most elaborate on the program. Suggestions for it were obtained from the extravaganza, "Mecca."

Richly colored costumes and unusual lighting effects have been worked out. The home economics department is making the clothes which will be worn in "The Sheik." The best voices in the school are in the chorus. Miss Lillian Applegate sings the lead, and Miss Camille Roosen gives a harem dance.

In this performance seven Arab chicks dominate over their slave girls in real barbarian fashion. The act closes with a colorful tableau under unusual lighting effects.

HOME WORSHIP ESSENTIAL

So Believes Dr. Crowe Who Has Completed Services.

"The man who says he cannot worship God every day in his home is a coward," Dr. William Crowe said last night at the closing meeting at the Presbyterian Church. "The Presbyterian man is usually a prosperous man, but his very prosperity is a stumbling block to him. He will make his money his proxy in the service of God; he does not have time for personal service," he continued.

"The most malignant disease that afflicts the church today is home sickness—the sickness that eats into our homes like a cancer to drive God out of it. For as the home is the foundation of the state so is it the foundation of the church," Doctor Crowe said.

"Bring God back into our homes and the problems of our young people will be solved. Let us learn to say with our children about our knees 'Our Father which art in Heaven,'" concluded Doctor Crowe.

The special ten-day series of special meetings closed last night with fine results to the church and the community generally, according to Doctor Crowe.

Doctor and Mrs. Crowe left this afternoon on the Wabash for their St. Louis home, where Doctor Crowe is the minister of the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

BUTTER CONTEST PLANNED

Dairies Over State Show Interest in Competition.

The University dairy department will hold its third annual butter-scoring contest on April 17. The last two contests were well attended with entries from creameries in all parts of the state. Inquiries have been received from additional creameries as to the date of the third contest.

Gold medals will be offered to the creamery having the highest average score of all five contests and to the creamery showing the greatest improvement as to the butter exhibited.

W. H. Reid of the dairy department is in charge of the contest.

A Complete Cycle of Service

IN directing the affairs of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) the 7 men responsible for its management and success keep constantly before them the ideals of service which have animated the organization in its development.

They are ever mindful of the fact that the service rendered by this Company bears a close and intimate relation to the progress, success and prosperity of practically every other industry. And that it has a major bearing on many professional and highly specialized branches of business.

They recognize the grave responsibility of supplying petroleum products to those who use the internal combustion engine as a source of power, and to those who depend upon this Company to lubricate their equipment in such manner as to conserve the power and the machinery which it operates.

These are the major and more obvious services rendered, but equal attention is given to problems affecting an individual or a small group.

This service may take the form of expert advice as to the best method of lubricating a single machine, it may be something to reduce the labor of the housewife, or to assist the medical profession in serving humanity. It may be a new kind of pavement or a method to increase or conserve the food supply.

These are but a few of the hundreds of ways in which Standard Oil service, positive and clearly defined, is helping and adding to the efficiency and economy of business generally.

As an example of how far this service is carried, we may mention the recently developed burning oil, Neolite, which supplies a growing demand for an oil used primarily in incubators and brooders, where a steady, unvarying heat must be maintained over a considerable period of time. To those who use incubators and brooders, Neolite is of great value.

While it is probable that the sales of this product will never attain a large volume, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) adds it to its long list of useful products that it may further discharge its obligation in rendering a complete cycle of service to 25 million people of 11 Middle Western States.
